10. At Identity-1's party, the Case Officer was accepted as a friend of [] without any undue curiosity. Several of the male guests asked [] what type of work he did with ODACID. The Case Officer indicated that he was a political reports officer and visited political personalities in his area. Two of the guests made comments that [] was a man interested in politics and a man the Case Officer should speak to if he wanted to know what was going on in the area. Identity-1 sat down beside [] at about three in the morning and said, "Now whom do you know in Frankfurt? Do you know my friend, Herman ABS?" When the Case Officer answered in the negative, he said, "Well whom do you know then?" Fortunately, [] remembered the name of the Chairman of the CDU in the area and gave his name. At that time the conversation was interrupted and there were no more problems of this type.
